Shiprock 2010

This year 6 from St. Louis, one from Oklahoma and a couple from Houston, Texas joined me for our annual outreach to the Navajo Indians at the Northern Navajo Nation Fair in Shiprock, New Mexico. I have been ministering to the Navajos since 1989 and this year the people we ministered to were the most receptive and hungry for the Gospel that I have ever seen. Something that really helped us have added rapport and favor with the Navajos was that 2 of those who went on the trip were Native Americans originally from Oklahoma. They were a great help to our ministry and I believe God is going to use both of these men in a mighty way to help bring revival to the American Indians. Some great men of God have prophesied that revival in America would begin with the Native Americans and from the spiritual hunger and receptivity that we saw in Shiprock I believe this revival has already begun.

They Came in Like a Flood

Lera ministering to the flood of children. On Thursday morning, the first day we evangelized from our booth at the fair, hundreds of Navajo kids were bussed in from all over. It was like a flood of children coming toward us and they were open and eager to hear the Gospel. Because of the help of those working the booth we were able to handle the large volume of kids and we ended up praying with hundreds of kids and many adults to get saved.

Both Thursday and Friday we ministered from our booth during the day and spent some time evangelizing at the carnival at night. The Chick Gospel tracts we passed out were especially popular with them. So many were asking us if they could have several different kinds of the Chick tracts. We also gave out about 6 boxes of big, hardback copies of Navajo New Testaments. About everyone we gave these to would just light up and be so happy that they had been given such a nice Navajo New Testament. In addition we passed out Jesus stickers, Gospel tracts, teaching CD's and over 1000 salvation bracelets.

More Highlights from the Trip

On Friday morning I was able to minister at Navajo Ministries' staff devotional. Then the people of our group were guests on KNMI radio that reaches into a large part of the four corners area for the morning show Four

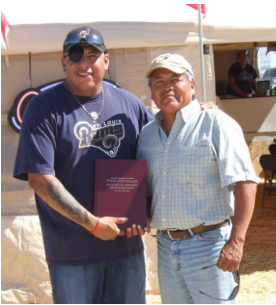

Our group on KNMI radio

Corners Spotlight. Navajo Ministries provided us with lodging in one of their homes while we were in Farmington for which we are very grateful.

I was also able to speak on secular radio station that was broadcasting live from the fairgrounds. They asked me to share about our booth at the fair and I was able to talk about the prophecy of revival beginning with Native Americans and invite people to come to our booth to get healed by Jesus who is the same yesterday, today, and forever. This is significant because people come to the Shiprock fair to be healed by the medicine men but we know that it is just a false counterfeit to the true healer, Jesus Christ.

On our way to and from Farmington we were blessed to be able to stay at Faith Community Church in Great Bend, Kansas. This made the 22 hour drive from St. Louis to Farmington doable. Sunday morning on our way back we were able to testify about the trip at Faith Community's Sunday School. Thank you, Faith Community!

Divine Appointments in Shiprock

Shabon is one of the Native Americans that ministered with us. He and I have ministered together on the streets of St. Louis and are referred to as the Lone Ranger and Tonto. In Shiprock as we were ministering from our booth Shabon and I began ministering to a Navajo family. The grandma seemed to take offense that Shabon was no longer a part of the traditional Indian church. As Shabon continued talking with her I began to minister to her grandsons who were about 13 years old. They and another man who was standing there prayed to get saved.

A girl who is a starter on the Shiprock High School basketball team came by our booth. As I began to minister the Gospel to her she soaked it up like a sponge. She responded to the message and ended up praying to receive Jesus. After the prayer she said that she felt different, that she felt God's peace. She can read Navajo so we gave her a Navajo New Testament and she was thrilled to get it. I really encouraged her to go to Victory Life Church in Shiprock pastored by Pastor Robert Tso. Victory Life Church is the local church there that we directed people to after praying to receive the Lord.

Sharing the Gospel with salvation bracelets

One night as we were ministering at the carnival, William, the other Native American from Oklahoma came across a man who was extremely angry. He was so upset that he was being tempted to hurt someone. William spent some time talking with him and with God's help he was able to calm him down.

The big parade was on Saturday morning. The Gospel tracts we passed out gave people something to read as they waited for the parade to start.

St. Louis

The city of St. Louis is also ripe for revival as we continue to see a lot of souls being saved during the Friday night street ministry that I do through a local church. I'm also finishing up teaching a class in the Ministry Academy.

Our Bible correspondence, Stepping Stones, continues to receive requests for enrollment and many others are working their way through the 12 lessons. Chris from the United Kingdom is on lesson 5 and has noted in his completed lessons that he has been blessed with the teachings.

Thank You

The outreaches, radio ministry and Bible correspondence course are reaching many people and they are expensive. It is because of your support that we can continue to affect people's lives with the Gospel. So, thank you for your obedience to give into this ministry.

In Christ,

Jeff Goss

Radio Ministry

Since February of 2006 we had a 5 minute program called Finding Hope which aired on World Harvest Radio's short wave stations. In 2008 we started Reaping the Harvest which is 15 minutes in length and airs in 5 United States cities. This past summer we started to become dissatisfied with the shortness of Finding Hope and being unable to convey the message we desired. After praying about it we decided to end Finding Hope and launch Reaping the Harvest on World Harvest Radio. Reaping the Harvest began airing the first weekend of September 2010 over 2 of World Harvest Radio's shortwave stations that reach into Asia and Africa. If you would like to hear the teachings of Reaping the Harvest the audio for past programs is available on our website under activities on the Reaping the Harvest page.
